WINDS blow—clouds mount the wind—rains fall—and the lands are replenished. Swollen streams are transformed into kinetic power by the turning wheels of our mills. Without this power the potential energy stored in dynamos is useless. But the harnessing of that energy creates expending power in the form of electricity.

Discoveries are made—books are written—students are taught—and the world becomes more educated. Our textbooks and teachers offer a stream of knowledge to turn the wheels of education. Without their guidance and help we would not be able to develop so extensively that knowledge which needs only application. But with this outside power we can improve our minds and use our intelligence to increase the education of the world.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is a representative group elected from the various homerooms and the Hi-Y, Friendship, Leader, and Social Science Clubs, making a total of twenty-one members.

At the beginning of the school year, the Council performed its usual duties, such as taking care of the tickets at football games and selling booster pins. At this same time the monitor system was organized and honor study halls were started. The latter was an innovation at this school. In the way of donations, the Council gave fifteen dollars toward the football banquet.

This group soon found that it could not try to pass sentence on everyone who was turned in for violation of hall rules. A tribunal, composed of five members, was then organized for this purpose, leaving the Council proper free for more important business.

As there were only fifteen representatives for a student body of almost 300, it was decided to enlarge the number by adding members from the four clubs. This helped to distribute representation more evenly.

During the football and basketball seasons, opportunities were given to the high school home rooms to make money for their classes by selling candy and wieners at the games. The requests to do this were handed in to Student Council and the applicants allowed to make their choice. It was "first come, first serve."

In February the Student Council held a spaghetti dinner to which the faculty was invited.

Lights are now being tried out for hall monitors, and a constitution has been made for the workings of the Council in the future.

The Citizenship Award, given for the first time this year, is to give the students a goal toward which they can work in the efforts to be better citizens in the school and community.

CLASS HISTORY

MYRON MONCK "Moke"

Class President, 1-4; Hi-Y, 3-4; Football, 2-3-4; Basketball, 1-2-3-4; Baseball, 1-2-3-4; Annual Staff, 4; Orchestra, 1-2-3-4; Photography Club, 3-4; Play, 3-4; National Honor Society, 4.

A day of memory to us Seniors is the day when we started in the first grade back in the fall of 1928. To our parents it was quite a happy day, and to us it seemed a great adventure. Jane Anderson, Donald Beck, Jay Cherry, Marybelle Culp, Edna Graebner, Betty Jane Ham-mink, Florence Massey, Myron Monck, Donal Ross, Harriet Spencer, and Bob and Virginia Watt began their school career with Miss Gladys Weinbroer at Forestview School; and at the same time there were Margaret Bott, Bill Christofferson, Alan Gibson, Bill Kleefeld, Pat Meddick, Roger Serne, Betty Shook, David Smeal, and Bill Troyan with Miss Boland at Park-view.

Do you remember the day in the first grade when our music teacher, Miss Sacket, made Jay Cherry and Betty Voelker stand up on the desk to make them sing higher?

Then there was the time when all you girls kissed Don Ross. Was his face red! (not lip-stick, either.)

Let's see now, in the second grade we had Miss Sara May Loomis for a teacher while the other class remained with Miss Boland. It was then that Miss Helen Mabie organized a band in our room with Don Ross as the leader, and once we even played for a P. T. A. meet-ing. That same year Don got his pony, Gypsy.

In the third year of school the number in our class increased to some extent. Dutton Ash-craft from Lakewood and Nancy Price from Rocky River went to Miss Clara Jones' third grade class and Ruth May Oliver joined the class at Parkview which had Miss Esme Riley as a teacher. Later in the year David Smeal transferred from Parkview to Forestview.

Somewhere along in here we were in one of Miss Mabie's operettas. The first one we were in, the boys at Forestview were candy-stick soldiers; the girls were leaves and wind; and the boys at Parkview were little pigs—all you could see were the ham ends. We entered our fourth grade with great enthusiasm, for both classes were brought under the supervision of the same teachers.

We had added to our roll call at both schools. Bill Kleefeld, Parkview, and Doris Dom-bey, Cleveland, went to Forestview and Ruth Pheneger from Lakewood to Parkview.

The fifth grade brought the students from Parkview to join the class at Forestview. The class was divided into two groups; Mrs. Elsie Cleverdon and Miss Florence Dietz had charge of the groups. Each year found our class increasing in size. This year brought Bob Cayce, Buffalo; Bob Stevens, Barbara Huthsteiner, Eileen Fitzgerald, Lakewood; Helen Porter, Cleveland; and Audrey Richard, Cleveland, to our class.

'Member when we used to be towed around the back yard of the school by Mr. Harry Hayes, the custodian who would put a plank on the back of the car?

Our last year at Forestview was a very happy and prosperous one. Nancy Price re-turned to our room after having gone back to Rocky River after the third grade, and we also had Lois Irwin join us from Lakewood. Miss Viola Walker and Miss Dietz were our home room teachers.

So much happened that year. We gave the play, "Peter Pan," for an assembly program; and we had another program for the P. T. A. Remember when Charles Yokom and Myron Monck gave the history of the presidents? We felt pretty big in those days. We were the only ones to use the back door and to use the basement where we danced the "Virginia Reel." We also had a surprise party on Miss Dietz. When we left that school we left all those wiener roasts behind. Those days can never return.

Well, here we were at the high school. My, how big the upper-classmen seemed! We looked up to the juniors and seniors and respected them. The lower-classmen of today do not look up to us as we did when we were younger, but perhaps times have changed—that's another history.

With no new persons coming into our class, Miss Ruth Utz had charge of the boys and Mrs. Mary Craig had the girls. The two classes gave an assembly program. Miss Utz directed a play for her class and Mrs. Craig had the supervision of an amateur program for the girls. That spring Miss Mabie had another concert, and in it members of both divisions of the seventh grade were Indians—what a mess that make-up was—and two nights, too!

Beverly Anthony, Cleveland, and Fred Gosewisch, Boardman, were welcomed to their respective division. Mrs. Craig had the boys and Miss Marjorie Groves, the girls.

Remember that play that Miss Margaret Schaefer directed which we gave for another assembly program? The action took place during the American Revolution.

The following year was the first time that the whole class met for home room period. It must have been quite an honor to Mr. George Wing to be the first to guide the class as a whole. Jack Duncan, Lakewood; Lee Stegenga, Lyndhurst; JoAnn Blaha, Avon; Eileen Hutcherson, Lakewood; and Elvera Wendt, Cleveland, joined our class in time to take part in the skating (really a treasure hunt because of no ice on the pond) party and the swimming party that we had at Huntington Beach when school was out.

Audrey Richard, who had left in the eighth grade, and Rud Halamka came from Lakewood to join our class in the tenth grade. Miss Marvel Sebert guided our ship for those next two years.

Have you forgotten the time when we had our sleigh ride in spite of the thermometer reading 40 degrees above and no snow but rain? Oh yes, and that same year we won three gallons of ice cream in the contest for selling annuals. That was when we celebrated Coach Shollenberger's birthday after the Olmsted-Bay basketball game. We ended the year by another swimming party at Huntington Beach.

Our junior year we really began to spend money—class jackets (scarlet and royal blue) and our rings—that was enough to buy! Jean Baxter, Rocky River; Bill Rossland, Dover; Arthur Johnson, Michigan; and Sam Oliver from East Cleveland were a great asset to the class that year.

Remember the "hot" time we had at our Italian spaghetti dinner? And we mustn't forget our class play, "Mystery in the Library," which Miss Eleanor Nunvar directed.

Betty Jane Woodmancy, Minnesota, and Marion Lehr, Chagrin Falls, are the final members to produce the forty-eight students to graduate from Mrs. Hannah Bortz's class to form the class of 1940.

Ten years from now, when we look into our annuals, we will try to recall what happened in our last year of high school. We'll try to recollect our senior play, the first one (a set of two) "Brothers" and "Sugar and Spice" being directed by Miss Marvel Sebert and that we were the first class to give three senior plays. The other, "You Can't Take It With You," was under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Mink. We were the first class ever to present the same play on two nights.

We might remember the class party celebrating Don Ross' birthday and that our class initiated the National Honor Society in Parkview High School. And perhaps we'll recall that commencement was on May twenty-eighth.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF '40

WE, the senior class of one thousand nine hundred and forty, of the Bay Village High School in the Village of Bay, County of Cuyahoga, State of Ohio, this United States of America, being of sound mind and body, do declare and publish this to be our last Will and Testament and do hereby bequeath our:

Item 1. Home room 301 and our teacher, Hannah K. Bortz, to a class that feels itself justly deserving.

Item 2. Privilege of entering via the front door to the juniors so that they may be spared the fatiguing walk to the side door.

Item 3. The following useful qualities to other members of the student body, hoping them justly deserving of this opportunity.

Since she has been left so much by former seniors in their wills, Jane Anderson has decided she has nothing to spare.

Beverly Anthony's sleepy morning-after look goes to Gayle Martin.

Dutton Ashcraft's purple pants to Bill Dymont.

Eileen Fitzgerald's knee socks to Trude Schluembach.

Alan Gibson's hot jive to Allen Barker.

Edna Graebner's red pork pie to Marge Shook.

Rud Halamka's charming smile to Bob Schwing.

Fred Gosewisch's intermittent gloom to Nancy Ashcraft.

Betty Hammink's slim waistline to Harry Craig.

Eileen Hutcherson's aloof ways to Norma Dymont.

Bill Kleefeld's patent leather hair to Dave Frazier.

Marian Lehr's love of the Army and Navy to Marilyn Ritter.

Florence Massey's short fingernails to Lois Beck.

Pat Meddick's dislike for monitors to Larry Krumwiede.

Jean Baxter's long lines to Anne Porter.

Don Beck's watermelon striped pants to Tom Case.

Jo Ann Blaha's rosy cheeks to Phyllis Anderson.

Margaret Bott's swinging stride to Bobby Ann Chase.

Emmy Case's silly giggle to Dick Alexander.

Bob Cayce's knowledge of what's going on in the world to Barbara Gascon.

Jay Cherry's literary career to Reporter Bonnie Stewart.

Bill Christofferson's curly hair to Gladys Massey.

Marybelle Culp's ability to recapture lost loves to Jerry Lewis.

Doris Dombey's worried expression while singing to Irma Schmidt.

Jack Duncan's prize bow ties to Louis Scholl.

Connie Engle's "up sweep" eyebrows to Howie Smith.

Myron Monck's athletic ability to Dorothy Hagedorn.

Ruth May Oliver's weak voice to Lenore Kick.

Sammy Oliver's small feet to Ralph Gilmore.

Ruth Pheneger's well kept hair to Doris Whitnum.

Helen Porter's speedy typing to Bob Price.

Nancy Price's "tripping" feet to Bob Mersbach.

Roger Serne's frequent trips into Lakewood to Bill France.

Betty Shook's quiet manner to Shirley Massey.

David Smeal's healthy holler to John Dahlstrom.

Harriet Spencer's blushes to Elmer Orvis.

Lee Stegenga's freckles to Diddy Poteat.

Bob Stevens' deep voice to Mernie Monck.

Bill Troyan's love of civics to Roy Lewis.

Bob Watt's tenor crooning to Don Shaw.
Virginia Watt's artistic ability to Bob Melbourne.
Elvera Wendt's love of home life to Jack Caldwell.
B. J. Woodmancy's china blue eyes to Steve Atzel.

THE SENIORS

The foregoing instrument was signed by the seniors in our presence and by them published and declared as and for their Last Will and Testament, and at their request and in the presence of each other, we hereunto subscribe our names as attesting witnesses at the Village of Bay Courthouse this first day of May, 1940.

HANNAH K. BORTZ

CLASS PROPHECY

THIS is your Confidential Radio Announcer, John Duncan. The Suburban Broadcasting Company in connection with Station W-B-A-Y is bringing you the annual interview of the class of '40 of Parkview High School. In this year of nineteen fifty may we find them enjoying everything better than ever. Our interviewer, ladies and gentlemen, is stationed in New York City and through broadcasting facilities we are able to talk to each member of the class of '40. Take it away."

"Good evening, everyone. The initiative step of explanation has been taken and now our rambling microphone stays a while here in New York City. Our first call is at the office of Baxter & Bott Co., Ltd. Misses Margaret and Jean, what are you two engaged in?"

"At present we are making signs for street car advertisements. Right, Jean?"

"Exactly. Everything's going fine, too."

"Glad to hear that, and the best of luck to you. Now, I wonder if playboy, Myron Monck, can be had? Come in, Myron."

"Hello to you and my fellow classmates."

"Myron, we hear that you are New York's most eligible bachelor in the Blue Book. Ever going to get married?"

"The right one hasn't come along yet, so I'll just wait. See you in the Blue Book, Jack."

"Thank you, and if everything's under control, Miss Woodmancy, will you take the air?"

"Hello, Jack and good people everywhere. Before Jack asks, I'm going to tell you. The past has found me doing good work in darkest Africa, and I'm going back next month. Come in again, Jack."

"A brief word, but B. J. covered everything. And everyone now to Grand Central Station. Come in, Sam."

"Greetings, '40, and don't forget to look for me as your red cap anytime. It's a great life if I don't weaken. Come in yourself, John Henry."

"Yes, sir, that was Sam Oliver. To a different field now; and well, Miss Dombey, tell us what you're up to at the present."

"I hope this serves the purpose. I've become quite noted as a chiropodist, and I specialize on infections. Business is running smooth, Jack. Call on me sometime."

"I sure will, Doris, and thanks a lot. Here's somebody I've dropped in on many times to see their famous Brother & Sister Tap Act. What do you know, Virginia and Bob?"

"Hello, everyone. All I can say is that I'm very happy over our recent success, and that goes for Bob, too."

"May the future be as the past. And now, Miss Marion Lehr. Tell us where time has found you."

"Jack and kids, (get it), kids. Macey's has beckoned and now you can call me Miss Mannequin. It's great; and well, Jack, take it away."

"Thank you, Miss Mannequin. What's this? Oh, yes, Cayce's just pulled his train into Grand Central. Let's get him."

"Hi. I'm pretty busy now as engineer for N. Y. C. R. R., but I can take it. I see Sam often down here. Yes, sir. Well, be good, Jack."

"Never fear. Thanks, Bob, a lot. I believe Miss Audrey Richard is expecting a call now; so, Audrey, what are we intruding upon?"

"Right now, Jack, I'm playing the piano here at home because every day I play at Woolworth's so I'm playing for a change."

"I see, Audrey, just for a bit of change? Thanks again, and now we're going to change this microphone to the Metropolitan Opera House. Our own Edna Graebner has the lead so is not available; but I believe we'll find the Duchess of Granada there, the former Miss Nancy Price. Duchess, come in."

"Mr. Duncan and fellow classmates: greetings. Tonight I am at the House to see Edna perform again. I never miss her. I might add, that while the Duke and I were coming I noticed a statue, "Black-Out," and a card underneath read: "From the Louvre, Paris. Sculptor, William Kleefeld." He's an old friend of all of us. I must sign off now, Mr. Duncan. Adieu."

"That's interesting about Bill, and thank you, Nancy. I might say right now that Miss Ruth Pheneger is not able to be with us tonight. Her scheduled program, 'Radio's Own Keyhole Reporter,' prevents her. Now, let's catch Bill Troyan, the Arthur Murray of the class of '40, before his next lesson at Hotel Astor. Billllll—"

"Hello there, Jack, and everyone. Yes, dancing's a great thing and everything's going great. I'll bet most of you don't know that Bob Stevens is head chef here at the hotel, and that makes the eats super grand. Well, Jack, this is where I came in, so good luck."

"May luck be your partner, too, Bill. Our last call in New York City is upon Jay Cherry. Mr. Cherry, come in."

"Cheerio to all of you and I know this goes for Elvera, too. You know she's a grand secretary, and I don't know what I'd have done without her while I've been penning for Rogers and Hart here in New York. Well, be good."

"Certainly will. Now, ladies and gentlemen, to Cleveland, Ohio. Come in, Bill Rossland."

"I've not much to say except business is sleek."

"Bill, maybe everyone doesn't know your business. Let's let them in on it."

"Used car business."

"I see. Now the rest of Bay graduates in Cleveland are girls and all are assembled at Detective Porter's headquarters."

"First, Misses Spencer and Shook, tell us your duties on the Cleveland Newspaper."

"I write daily 'Advice to the Lovelorn.' Suppose, Harriet, you speak for yourself."

"I am the poetry editor."

"More power to you two, and now may we have a word from Ruth Oliver?"

"She's on a short baseball trip, Mr. Duncan; so I'll pinch hit for her."

"And this is . . ."

"Florence. There's something I want to announce and that is I am expecting my B. A. in shorthand, I hope, by next year."

"Glad to hear it, Flip. Am I right, Miss Fitzgerald, that Betty Jane Hammink and Barbara Huthsteiner are your super salesmen for your new product, Cinch's Canary Bird Seed?"

"100% right, Jack. In fact we've had more offers for the salesmen than the seed."

"I'll take some at a later date, Fitz, but now on with our program. From Detective Porter's in Cleveland to good old Bay, our old alma mater. Marybelle, all set?"

"Glad to be able to be one of this group tonight. Alan just put the children to bed. He's good that way, you know. Jane Anderson and JoAnn Blaha have come over for the evening. JoAnn says to remind you all that she'll autograph her latest book, "Why Boys Leave Home," at anytime for her old classmates. Jane, you tell them what you're doing."

"I'm drawing snow flakes still; but they always melt, and I have the worst time."

"Thank you all very much. Now, there are still more grads in Bay."

"Dunc, remember me? Yes, I'm still kissing babies from last year's election. Justice of Peace, they call me."

"Well, of course, I remember. David Smeal, congratulations! Meddick's still homesteading Bay. Let's have a word from Pat."

"Hellooooo, Jack. I'm still waving at the truck drivers from the porch, but things are dull really."

"Still the same, old Pat. And now we pause for station identification."

This is station W-B-A-Y.

1939-1940 CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

7. Creak! That's the aged seniors going through the front door for the first time while the more energetic underclassmen trot briskly around to the side door.

13. Nothing but cookie crumbs left from the Friendship tea for the sophomore girls and their mothers.

OCTOBER

19. The Friendship girls give a Pirate Card Party—minus the pirates.

20. The Seniors enjoy a red-pepper-less dinner, finished by Donal's birthday cake.

23. The Bay Window blossoms forth in full glory, neatly printed. (Maybe the dirt column should stay mimeographed!)

24. Lights, camera, and a little less action, please! Annual pictures taken with interference.

27. No school and a busy day—N. E. O. T. A. Seniors claim they weren't hurt at all when they were shot by the photographer. And, of course, all were at the Friendship Barn Dance.

NOVEMBER

10. Armistice Day is fittingly celebrated by "Brothers," seasoned by a dash of "Sugar and Spice."

14. The football banquet—eat heartily, boys; it's the last free food for a while!

16. Hollywood, here they come! Our teachers display their talent at the P. T. A. Fathers' Night Banquet.

23. It's Thanksgiving, and we only wish the President had added another day to vacation while he was at it.

DECEMBER

1. Perhaps our band doesn't play as well as the Marine Band, but we'll bet they play as loud at the Band Concert, anyway.

10. Very likely the colors in the juniors' jackets keep them as warm as the wool in them does!

20. The wild and woolly turn out slim and sleek for the Senior Prom.

25. Santa Claus, generous man, brings vacation, presents, and Christmas tree, all in the same bag.

27. The Friendship girls with a rustle and bustle pour forth at the Friendship Formal.

JANUARY

2. School starts again. What we need now is a course in "Six Easy Lessons on Learning To Get Up In The Morning."

Who wants to take it with 'em . . . Here we are again . . . The sky is the limit . . . Ha Ha . . . Cuttin' up . . . Doc . . . Messin' around . . . Hold that line! . . . Beef on the hoof.

Shortly after the beginning of the first semester, the class began discussing class jackets. Blue and gold were the colors chosen. The jackets arrived early in December.

Different methods for raising money were suggested. The class sold candy during one of the basketball games, gave a dance, sold refreshments after another game, and sold plants at Easter and on Mother's Day.

Class rings and pins were chosen in the second semester.

The class play, "Captain Applejack," was presented April 19. Mr. C. M. Patterson directed the play, and Miss Helmi Johnson was the faculty business manager.

On May 24 the class gave a dinner dance for the seniors.

The "Class of '42" had many activities around which it based its well-spent school year. The class participated in selling candy for both basketball and football games, the funds of which helped to finance the parties which took place during the year. In accordance with this year the class held a Leap Year Dance and Party on March eighth, which, as its title suggested, was quite different. Robert Schwing replaced Richard Ashwill as president when the latter moved to North Olmsted in the early part of the year.

SCHOOL DAYS END

With memories fond we bid goodbye
To every happy day
That we have spent at Parkview High,
But now the parting of the way
Is nigh,

To friends we've known the twelve years through,
We bid goodbye as schooldays end.
We're off to start our lives anew,
And down our separate pathways wend—
Adieu.

To wider worlds we now depart;
And when our life work is begun,
Though we may wander far apart,
Forever we will be as one
In heart.

The Friendship Club of Parkview High School was started in Bay Village in 1927 under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Swarthout. It was then called the K-Shun Club. In 1934 it changed its name to the Friendship Club, or the Girl Reserves. The same year, Mrs. Hanna K. Bortz became adviser of the club. To promote friendship, sincerity, and dependability is the club's purpose. The three sides of the triangle of the Girl Reserve emblem represent the mind, body, and spirit of a girl; the circle means everlasting friendship.

Under the able guidance of Mrs. Bortz, Friendship Club chose for its theme this year of 1939-40: "All Roads Lead to Life." A play was given to the club by several of its members; a joint meeting with Hi-Y boys proved to show us how to better our etiquette. Mrs. Hanushek told the club by a book review the life of Marie Antoinette. As a service project valentines were made and presented to each patient at Lakewood Hospital. The Ring Group conducted an Easter Service in an assembly two days before vacation.

Social events included: A Mothers' and Daughters' Tea; Recognition Service for the girls entering Friendship Club; A Pirate Card Party given in the gym as well as a Barn Dance (given at a later date); the Friendship Private which was a great success; an exchange meeting with North Olmsted girls; and a Pie Feed for the Fathers. We ended the year with the annual Pa-Ma-Me Banquet at the Club House, our closing program, as well as installation of officers.

The Hi-Y has been a part of Parkview for thirteen years. Mr. Chapman was the first adviser for the organization. In 1935 the club was reorganized, and since that time the constitution has been revised several times.

The programs for the Y this year have included speakers for dinner meeting, an assembly program February 14, at which Father Patterson of the St. Christopher's Catholic Church of Rocky River was the speaker, and several dances.

Four members of the club represented the Hi-Y at the state convention held in Youngstown the first three days of December.

Some Real "Sports"

LEADER CLUB

President	Florence Massey
Vice President	Gladys Massey
Secretary	Miriam Jacklitch
Treasurer	Eva Proeschel
Social Chairman	Lois Beck
Adviser	Mrs. Marjorie Mink

The Leader Club consists of girls who are outstanding in physical education and are leaders in school.

The activities of the Leader Club included the arrangement of the girls' interclass basketball schedule, selling candy at a basketball game, and a dance after the Dover basketball game.

The club had the girls' interclass basketball cup engraved, and also purchased the girls' basketball letters and cheerleaders' letters.

They are planning a banquet at the end of the year.

Over The Top To Victory With Power To Spare FOOTBALL

Starting out with a squad of about thirty, Coach Secrist began practice the day after school opened. Five letter men were on hand from last year's team.

The outlook for the team of equaling or excelling the record of the previous year was rather pessimistic; but by playing conservative and consistent football, the squad exceeded all expectations by winning every league game.

At the annual football banquet Mr. Bahner from the county office presented to the school a cup which was accepted by Don Ross, honorary captain of the team.

Don Ross and Ralph Gilmore were chosen as all-county players. Myron Monck and Bill Troyan were chosen for the all-county second team. Bill Dymont and Bill Christofferson received honorable mention.

The lettermen were: Ends: Fred Gosewisch, Ralph Gilmore, and Jerry Lewis; Tackles: Bill Troyan and Bill Lawrence; Guards: David Smeal, Don Beck, and Jack Duncan; Centers: Bill Dymont and Bill France; Backs: Don Ross, Myron Monck, Bill Christofferson, Roger Serne, Dave Donaldson, and Elmer Funke.

B A S K E T B A L L

The Bay Village basketball team enjoyed a very successful season. Out of sixteen games played, only four were lost. In the county league competition the Bay cagers won seven out of ten games.

Of the four games lost, two were lost to Olmsted Falls, winner of the county championship. The first was lost by two points, 32-30, in an overtime decision, and the second by the score of 35-33. In another loss, Rocky River won 30-29 in a split-second decision. In the other loss Strongsville won 23-15.

For the season Bay's team scored an average of 38 points per game to the opponent's 26. The points scored by Bay totaled 611 for the season, as compared with 411 by their opponents.

Myron Monck received double honors—being selected for the all-county team, and gaining honorable mention on the all-scholastic selection. Myron's 27 points against Fairview was one of the outstanding performances of the year.

The season was climaxed by the annual basketball banquet given by the school at the Community Club. Those who received letters were: Myron Monck, Ralph Gilmore, Bill Christofferson, Lee Stegenga, Roger Serne, Bill Troyan, Fred Gosewisch, Donal Ross, and Rud Halamka.

History in the Making

HISTORY CLUB

President Don Shaw
Vice-President Dave Donaldson
Secretary Audrey Richard

This year the History Club began its meetings in November. As was the case last year, its meetings were open to all. Discussions dealt largely with the European wars and many important facts and hidden causes were brought forth. The high point of the year's activities was a panel discussion on "America's Contribution to Lasting Peace," given before the Parent-Teacher Association. The club was under the sponsorship of Mr. Patterson.

We wish to thank Mr. Griffith, the staff, the faculty, Mr. Morton, his typists, and the entire student body for their co-operation in making our annual a success. May we also thank Mr. C. Jay Smith of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company, Mr. Hurst, Trout-Ware Photographers, and our many advertisers for their help and co-operation.

THE CLASS OF '40

"Duncan, again, and that was just time for a short glass of water, wasn't it? From now on our microphone is really going to travel. First, Lee from Washington, D. C."

"Senator Stegenga speaking. Greeting and good luck to everyone."

"Same to you. All right now to Indiana. Serne, come in."

"Hi, John Henry. I feel pretty good tonight. My midget car just pulled me through the race yesterday by 230 m. p. h.; and, which, by the way is the only car that runs on hydrogen."

"Farewell, Indianapolis, and now to California."

"I'll talk just as soon as Willy will keep quiet. You see, Willy is ready for a good hair cut. Well, we'll buzz off."

"Folks, that was old killer diller Ross speaking, better known now as Barber Ross. Say, I just received a telegram from Lois Irwin. It says, quote, "As matron of Better Girls' Reformatory in Missouri, I can't leave post stop good luck stop." unquote. Too bad, Lois, we looked forward to a word from you. Well, from Missouri is also Rud. He is, as we all know, ancient history teacher in Podunk, Mo. Come in, Rud. Oh, oh, that buzzing noise sounds bad. Well, I guess Podunk's out of commission. I hope he's on the receiving end, anyhow. Now you who are familiar with Chicago's doings know that this week's headliner is Bungling Bros. Circus. Let's stop in."

"Yes, this is Hutch, so what? I'm billed over Engle this week. I know her troop of parachute jumpers are O. K., but I'm the head barker. So long."

"So long, Miss Hutcherson. Also in downtown Chicago is Don Beck. It's all yours, Don."

"Beez-ness very good. Guess who's my biggest sob sister? Emma Case. She's the pride of the Chicago Herald."

"She's everyone's pride, Don. And now we head back east. Let's stop a second at Philadelphia where our own Dutton Ashcraft is the noted conductor of the Philharmonic Symphonic Orchestra."

"Can't talk but a second, Jack. Just to send you all lots of luck."

"Same to you, old top, and now to Lake Placid where Miss Beverly Anthony, our national figure skating champion, is now practicing."

"I'm very proud of our class showing tonight, Mr. Duncan, and I hope next year's turn out will be just as good."

"We're very proud of you, Bev, and now for our finale, which is Fred Gosewisch of Paris, France. Come in, Paris . . . Paris, come in."

"Hello, America. This is Fred and here they call me the Schapbocher of Paris' most stylish style salon."

"Glad to hear it, Fred. And now, folks, to the Class of '40 of Parkview High, I want to express my thanks for all co-operating on this grand annual affair. Until next year to all the best of luck and happiness in the future. Good night, everyone."
